

Course Name:

Occupational Health and Safety for Workers

Availability:

Continuous / Online

Enrolment Information

Phone: (705) 521-8324 ext. 450

<http://www.norcattraining.com>Course Description

The Ontario Occupational Health and Safety Act is designated to protect workers against health and safety hazards on the job by spelling out the rights and responsibilities of the various parties.

This program was developed to give workers an understanding of these rights and responsibilities, and to explain the three basic rights afforded each worker under the OHSA.

This course is in compliance with OHSA rules and regulations and, specific to 2014 updates, exceeds MOL mandatory training requirements.

Course Outline

- Introduction and History of the OHSA
- Responsibilities under the OHSA
 - Employer Responsibilities and Duties
 - Supervisor Responsibilities
 - Worker Responsibilities
- Worker Rights under the OHSA
 - Internal Responsibility System (IRS)
 - Right to Refuse Work
 - Work Refusal Process
 - Reprisals Prohibited
- Accidents and Incidents
- Hazards in the Workplace
 - Definitions
 - Hazard Identification
 - Categorization of Hazards
- Joint Health and Safety Committee
 - Definitions and Explanations
 - Committee Member Duties, Responsibilities and Functions
 - Interaction with Managers and Supervisors